

I am a... Worthwhile Writer

Vision and Values

I have happy memories of writing.

I enjoy writing in a range of contexts for different audiences and purposes.

I feel safe to express my ideas through my writing.

I feel valued by the readers of my writing .

I demonstrate British Values in writing by knowing my views count, by valuing the views of others and by writing about the world I live in.

Head

I know how to construct sentences to build a piece of writing.

I understand how writing floats on a sea of talk.

I understand how to make my writing grammatically correct using accurate punctuation.

I understand the effect my vocabulary choices have on my writing.

I know the features of a range of text types.

I understand how important handwriting and presentation are for the reader of my writing.

Hand

I am a writer.

I can express my ideas clearly demonstrating good writing stamina.

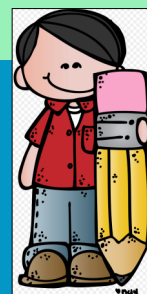

I can vary my writing style for a range of audiences and purposes.

I can develop my spelling, punctuation and grammar skills in context.

I can plan and draft my writing.

I can edit and improve my writing, ensuring accurate spelling of age appropriate words.

I can write using a legible handwriting style.

Heart

I am proud to be a worthwhile writer.

I appreciate the writing of others and how their writing style might be different to mine.

I care about my writing and always strive to do the very best that I can.

I feel proud when my writing is celebrated and shared with others.

